

ABM Industries Promotes Two Senior Facility Services Executives to Top Positions in Parking and Security

NEW YORK, Jan 25, 2010 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- ABM Industries Incorporated (NYSE:ABM) today announced the promotion of two of its senior ABM Facility Services executives. Mark Muglich has been named president of Ampco System Parking. Chris Hansen has been promoted to president of ABM Security Services. ABM Industries, operating through its subsidiaries, is the United States' leading provider of facility services.

Muglich has been an executive at Ampco System Parking since 1993 and most recently served as Ampco's executive vice president and acting president. With more than 40 years of experience in the parking industry, Muglich will lead Ampco's management of more than 1,600 office and multi-use parking operations across the country. Ampco provides parking and transportation services for a wide variety of facilities, including airports, colleges and universities, commercial offices, hotels, retail complexes, sports and entertainment venues, and hospitals and medical centers.

ABM Security Services' new president, Chris Hansen, most recently served as ABM Security Services' executive vice president, with responsibility for operations and sales. Hansen has more than 30 years of experience in the security industry. ABM Security Services provides an array of custom, commercial and residential security services, such as on-site security personnel, background checks and investigative services, patrol and alarm response, access control, security consulting and system design. ABM Security Services is one of the largest employers of security officers in the country and operates in 34 states.

"Mark and Chris are outstanding executives with a proven ability to drive ABM's growth and leadership in parking and security," said Steven Zaccagnini, executive vice president, ABM Industries, and president, ABM Facility Services. "Important in these economic times, they are also cognizant of the need to make continual operational improvements to help drive efficiencies and control costs for our clients and their businesses. I am confident in their leadership and look forward to working with them going forward."
